Japs on Recoil In Leyte Dash

By MURLIN SPENCER

MacARTHUR HEADQUARTERS, Nov. 4 (AP)—The aroused Japanese, defying superior forces of American men and guns on the move north and south of Ormoc, marshalled reinforcements today under a hail of aerial bombs for a finish fight on western Leyte.

Reports for the past 24 hours told of the enemy on the recoil. Nipponese airmen made more than 35 low-level attacks on eastern Leyte airfields and docks, blew up an ammunition dump and set a merchant ship afire. The fire was extinguished.

At Pearl Harbor, Adm. Nimitz announced Nipponese planes attacked an aircraft carrier group of the Third Fleet, which has been supporting the Philippines reinvasion, and damaged several ships.

Enemy tanks, troops and artillery have been landed at Ormoc from a convoy which lost two transports and 25 covering planes in a fierce battle with the 49th Fighter Group, record-breaking squadron of the Far Eastern Army Air Force.

The 49th, which has shot down 530 Japanese planes during the war and boasts America's ace of aces in Maj. Richard I. Bong, with a bag of 33, later spotted a 10-mile-long motor convoy rolling north from Ormoc.

The planes swept down to tree-top level over the mechanized reinforcements, blasting 30 trucks, at least two tanks, equipment and supplies.

"We could see the bodies blown into the air," Maj. Thomas B. Maguire, told Richard Bergholz, Associated Press war correspondent, at a Leyte airfield.

The badly cut up Japanese column was trying to reach Carigara bay on Leyte's northwest coast by way of a 20-mile road from Ormoc and bulwark Nipponese retreating before the 10th Corps of Maj. Gen. Franklin C. Sibert.

At the north end of that road where it emerges from Ormoc valley, 155s and eight-inch howitzers were wheeled in position to lay down just such a withering fire as the 18-hour barrage which crushed the bloodiest resistance of the Leyte campaign before Carigara town.

Sibert's 24th Infantry Division and First Cavalry approached the road's terminus at Pinamopoan after rolling five miles west of smouldering Carigara.

Indicating the determination of the enemy to stay on Leyte, 50 first-line planes, piloted by some of the ablest Nipponese airmen encountered in the Pacific, flew tight cover over the four large transports and escorting destroyers which carried in the reinforcements.

American Lightnings and bomb-carrying Warhawks tore into the aerial screen and weaved through heavy flak to score a partial success, but the convoy got men ashore during the darkness

Nazi Tank Attack Forces Yanks Back at Schmidt

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP)—German counterattacks supported by tanks recaptured the village of Schmidt, 15 miles southeast of Aachen, today and forced American troops to fall back a half-mile to the west.

The town was lost during a day of bitter but local enemy counter-blows all through the area where doughboys had pushed through forest lands toward the Cologne plain.

Americans seized Schmidt yesterday. They knocked back one German infantry assault, but gave way before one spearheaded by tanks.

Late today a third German attack behind 10 tanks hit the First Army lines northwest of Schmidt. At least seven enemy tanks were wrecked.

Despite the Nazi comeback, the Americans maintained and strengthened their positions at Vossenack, and a light German attack near Hurtgen was broken.

In the Schmidt area, the First Army had thrust within 1000 yards of the Roer river, the next and hardest enemy barrier on the way to the Rhine 28 miles to the east.

To the northwest in Holland, Polish, American and British troops pushed closer toward the Maas (Meuse) river, and were within three miles of the Moerdijk bridge, main escape span for enemy rearguards.

Local gains were scored elsewhere along the 500-mile front. German resistance was greatest in the American plunge beyond Aachen.

The Americans were advancing against hastily dug field defenses and natural obstacles—barriers which American officers believe may be tougher to crack than the breached concrete and steel belt of the Siegfried Line.

In the first two days of the drive the Americans gained almost four miles.

In the Maas (Meuse) river bulge of Eastern Holland, American troops swarmed over the South Willems canal above Nederweert and drove the enemy back 4000 yards, capturing Ospel and reaching the vicinity of Groenwood, in thrusts toward the German border at Venlo.

On Walcheren island, where the last phase of the battle to clear the Schelde estuary approach to Antwerp is being fought, Allied units moving west of Vlissingen (Flushing) linked with comrades coming down the coast from Westkapelle.

The Germans still held half of what remains of flooded Walcheren.

The U. S. Third Army front was quiet, but the American Seventh and French First armies hit forward steadily in the Vosges foothills.

One American division captured Reherry, Vaxainville and Reclonville four to six miles north of Baccarat, and was maintaining a mile-a-day advance. This unit seized 500 prisoners and found several hundred German dead.

WESTERN FRONT — Yank forces driving on Cologne today were meeting stiffening resistance after taking Schmidt. Other Yanks operating in the British Second Army area captured Ospel in a push toward Venlo. Black arrows show Allied moves, white arrows indicate potential drives.

3100 Planes Rip Big Reich Plants

By HENRY D. JAMESON

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Germany was caught in a three-way attack today by 3100 American planes and a force of RAF bombers and fighters that smashed 10 important industrial cities in the Reich.

The U. S. 8th Air Force staged a mass attack on German synthetic oil industries and railways today with more than 1100 bombers and 800 fighters fanning out over targets from Hamburg to Saarbrucken.

One force attacked oil plants and refineries in the twin cities of Hamburg-Harburg.

Another hit an oil plant at Gelsenkirchen in the Ruhr. A third formation blasted military objectives in the Hanover region and a fourth flew southeast of Luxembourg against the railroad yards at Saarbrucken.

The big daylight operation followed the sixth Mosquito raid on Berlin in nine nights.

The Mosquitos, usually operating in small forces and carrying one 4000-pound bomb each for some specific target, again raced to the Reich capital and back without loss.

Small forces of Italian-based bombers, which flew through an Austrian snowstorm part of the way, attacked targets in the Vienna, Munich and Klagenfurt areas yesterday.

Japs Strike Toward Liuchow

CHUNGKING, Nov. 4 (AP)—Japanese troops have penetrated Kweilin's eastern, western and northern suburbs and intense fighting is raging there, the Chinese high command announced tonight.

An enemy column from the east which by-passed that defense pivot in South Central China struck down the Ifunan-Kwangsi railway toward Liuchow and reached a point six miles from Yungfu, 33 miles southwest of Kweiling.

Liuchow now is the most important rail center in all Free China, also the site of an advanced American air base.

Germans Cleared From Greece

ROME, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Germans have been completely cleared from Greece, Allied headquarters announced today.

RAF pilots on reconnaissance flights reported they were unable to find any traces of Nazis who occupied the country early in 1941. The Germans have been fleeing into Serbia and Albania.

MARSHAL TITO WOUNDED

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP)—A German short-wave propaganda broadcast heard today by the Associated Press said Marshal Tito had been wounded by Serbian Nationalists.

FD Blasts Fear Plea

By FRANK REILLY
Boston American Staff Reporter

ABOARD PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S CAMPAIGN SPECIAL, Nov. 4—Battling for the 16 doubtful Massachusetts electoral votes, President Roosevelt headed through New England toward Boston today charging Republicans with being the party of inflation, with resorting to a campaign of fear and with "name calling."

His accusations came in speeches from the rear platform of his train before crowds at Bridgeport and Hartford, Ct., and in Springfield.

"America has come through a dark and dangerous time," he told a crowd estimated at 40,000 in Springfield. "This time we are going to remain prepared. This time we are not going to scuttle our strength."

The President's two-fisted verbal attack will be climaxed tonight with his appearance at a Fenway Park rally which will mark his final major fourth term bid at 9 p. m.

In his Springfield address, the President struck back at charges he had failed to keep his promise not to send American boys into a foreign war.

"Our pledge was kept," he asserted. "We armed in defense and went into the war only after Japan attacked us at Pearl Harbor. We fought back when we were attacked—obviously rightly. We fought back—as our forefathers had fought. We took the offensive—and we held it.

"It was to save America that we joined in a common war against the Fascist ruthlessness and brutality of Germany and Japan.

"You and I have been through a lot together. And we are going to go ahead together—until we have finished this tremendous job of winning the war and building a strong, enduring peace."

In his earlier speech at Hartford, the President accused the Republicans of attempting to "panic the people" into voting for a change of administration through a "campaign of fear" and with being the "party of inflation."

"If the Republicans had had their way," he declared, "all of us would have had our dollars cut down by inflation and higher living costs.

"The lesson of the last war was pretty plain to most of us in this Administration, but to many Republicans it was not plain at all. The record is clear. Time and again the Republicans in Congress voted overwhelmingly against price control and in favor of letting prices go skyrocketing."

As an example of the "campaign of fear," he cited claims that the insurance policies of the nation would be worthless if his administration remained in office.

"The Republicans tried the same kind of a campaign in 1932," he declared in the insurance capital of the nation, "when the people of the United States were told that grass would grow in the streets of a thousand cities unless Mr. Hoover were re-elected President.

"Mr. Hoover was not re-elected President, but instead of grass growing in the streets we saw the streets hum with a revival of business and a revival of employment.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT . . . ARRIVES HERE TODAY

Sen. Walsh Shuns Rally

By JAMES J. DELANEY
Boston Evening American Staff Reporter

Sen. David I. Walsh struck a smashing blow at President Roosevelt's climactic bid for this state's 16 electoral votes today, declaring he would not attend the Fenway Park rally tonight when the President asks a fourth-term vote from Bay State balloters.

His announcement, made from his Clinton home said:

"I will meet the train at the Union station in Worcester this afternoon about 3:15 or 3:25, depending on its scheduled arrival from Springfield. I will board it and ride as far as Framingham, if it can be arranged for a halt there. Then I will return to my home in Clinton. If the train does not make the Framingham stop, I will leave it at Boston, and return to Clinton.

"I will not be at Fenway Park tonight."

The senior Massachusetts Senator, still indignant at being termed "isolationist" by Vice-Presidential Candidate Harry S. Truman, emphasized he would make good his one promise to the President—to visit the campaign train.

But he was equally emphatic that he would not be at Fenway Park. He said he would not remain aboard the special if he could get off at Framingham. If a stop there would seriously inconvenience the schedule, he will leave the presidential party when the train arrives in Boston, then go home to Clinton.

The assertion of other prominent Democrats here that all had been mended and repaired by the President's invitation to join him on the train were deflated by Walsh's last-minute declaration.

His action was expected to exert an appreciable influence on the voting next Tuesday, for he had previously acknowledged the election was shaping as a 50-50 proposition as disclosed by various nationwide polls.

Sen. Truman has yet to assert he was misquoted regarding his "isolationist" barb at Walsh When newspapermen in New York asked him early in the week for comment on Walsh's indignant remarks, Truman pointed out that Walsh was scheduled to be a radio speaker for the Democratic party the following day. He said: "I will wait to hear Sen. Walsh's speech Thursday. That should clear up everything."

Local party leaders, like Truman, evidently expected Walsh to sound a harmony note. But the radio address never materialized. Wednesday night, the night before he was reportedly due to speak, Walsh announced he had no intention of doing so.

"I have no plans for public ap-

Wallace Reveals FD's Big Worry

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (INS)—President Roosevelt is genuinely "concerned" over support of his home state, Vice President Henry Wallace admitted before 4000 New Deal adherents in the Brooklyn Academy of Music last night.

"Roosevelt is in," said Wallace, "but I want to say to you the job you do here in New York is closer to the heartbeat of your great President than any other state. He has so told me.

"Otherwise, I would have spent this last campaign week elsewhere. New York is close."

FD Train Guard Killed, 1 Hurt

STAMFORD, Ct., Nov. 4 (AP)—An auxiliary policeman guarding President Roosevelt's special train was killed and another was critically injured today when struck by a New Canaan-bound train in a heavy fog near the New Haven railroad's Stamford depot.

Francis Carrigan, 40, of Stamford, died of a fractured skull. Theodore Hartlett, 41, of the same city, was taken to Stamford Hospital with serious injuries to his side and hip.

FD Seizes 8 Toledo Plants

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (INS)—President Roosevelt today ordered the Army to seize and operate eight war plants in Toledo, O., where sympathy strikes were called by the Mechanics Educational Society of America.

Baker Brothers, Inc.; Willys' Overland Motors, Inc.; Great Lakes Stamping and Manufacturing Co.; Ohio Tool and Die Co.; Inshield Products Co.; Crescent Engineering Corp.; Toledo Steel Tube Co., and the Wayne Metal Products Co.

The White House action followed a defiant statement from Matthew Smith, national secretary of MESA, who threatened to call out an additional 25,000 Cleveland MESA workers Monday.

Dewey Ends Campaign At Scene of 1st Triumph

By LEO W. O'BRIEN

ALBANY, Nov. 4 (INS)—Gov. Dewey brings his campaign to a close tonight with a nationally broadcast speech from New York city, where, as a young racket buster, he climbed the first steps leading to the Republican nomination for the highest office in the United States.

His speech will be broadcast between 10:30 and 11 p. m.

While Gov. Dewey will make one more speech before the election, a radio talk from the Executive mansion Monday night, his Madison Square Garden speech actually will be his final bid for votes. Traditionally, the election eve talk is devoted to an appeal to all to vote, regardless of choice of candidate.

Madison Square Garden is expected to be taxed to its 20,000 capacity for the Dewey rally.

The Republican nominee probably will summarize the issues he raised since Sept. 7 from Philadelphia across the continent to San Francisco, through the Middle West and New England and in all the border states.

Ordinarily, party leaders hold that speeches on the week-end before an election do not affect the outcome. The situation is different this year.

Republican leaders are convinced the result will be close in many large states, such as New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Massachusetts and several others, and that a last-minute decision by as few as 150,000 voters could sweep all or most of those states into one column or the other.

Gov. Dewey will remain in New York city tonight after his speech, returning to Albany tomorrow afternoon. He will remain at the executive mansion until Tuesday morning, leaving then for New York city to vote and receive the election returns.

Some Republican leaders urged Gov. Dewey to speak last night or this afternoon in New Jersey, but the suggestion was vetoed by the nominee, who wants to concentrate his final effort in the New York speech tonight.

NATION'S YOUNGEST VOTER—Rachel Naomi Williams, pretty Army Cadet Nurse, of Atlanta, Ga., who reaches her 18th birthday on November 7, prepares to cast her first vote in the coming presidential election. Georgia is the only state allowing 18-year-olds to vote, so she'll just make it. Rachel is properly registered and the law says anyone who become 18 before the polls close is entitled to vote.

Gen. Sir Oliver Leese Heads 11th Army Unit

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP)—The newly-organized 11th army group, operating in southeast Asia and including some American troops formerly led by Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, was placed today under the command of Lt. Gen. Sir Oliver W. H. Leese.

Lt. Gen. Sir Richard J. McCreery, 46, was named to succeed Leese as commander of the British Eighth Army in Italy. Leese will serve under the direction of Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten.

Mississippi Solons Sew Up State for F. D.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 4 (INS)—Mississippi had a new and solidly pro-Roosevelt slate of presidential electors today.

The state legislature, meeting in a special session, passed a measure designed to prevent a split among the electors in the strongly Democratic state. The bill created a new set of nine electors and ordered that a supplemental ballot bearing their names be printed immediately.

OPA Bars Voters

MONTROSE, Cal., Nov. 4 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration has intervened to prevent voters from tramping in and out of Lt. B. M. Garrett's front room next Tuesday.

The OPA ruled his landlady could not rent the room as a polling place without violating regulations against double renting.

Bricker Winds Up Campaign in Ohio

EN ROUTE WITH BRICKER, Nov. 4 (AP)—John W. Bricker, having addressed a final sales talk to the nation, concludes his campaign for the vice-presidency today among the folk who thrice elected him governor of Ohio.

He has expressed confidence that his home state's 25 electoral votes will go to the Dewey-Bricker ticket in Tuesday's election, but is taking no chances.

So Gov. Bricker was booked for four speeches during the day and an evening address in Cleveland, to be broadcast by an Ohio network.

Last night in Philadelphia Bricker compared the records of President Roosevelt and Gov. Dewey, and told a nationwide radio audience that the G. O. P. candidate for President was better qualified to preserve representative government and help win the war, construct a lasting peace and solve postwar domestic problems.

"Mr. Roosevelt, he contended, "has repudiated free representative government" and "is not the man to serve representative government at home or abroad."

The Ohioan asserted further that under the New Deal the nation had been subjected to one-man rule, that New Deal courts had usurped the law-making functions of Congress, that the President had cracked down on commerce and agriculture without legislative approval, that the administration had experienced a continuous and vindictive brawl for 12 years, and that this nation had lost the leadership in foreign affairs.

Of Dewey he said:

"He will give American industry an incentive schedule to produce. He will restore fair collective bargaining. He will seek repeal of punitive and excessive taxes. His election will encourage the investment dollar to come out of hiding and make it profitable for men to risk their toil and savings in commercial ventures.

"He will inspire American inventive genius. He will help America become strong by becoming productive."

Her daughter Irene (right) waits her turn to add to his luck. He was expected to be acting captain for the big game.

Hurley, Buckley Claim Strength; Barnes Regards Victory Certain

The ability of candidates for lesser offices on the state ticket was under close scrutiny by the electorate today as the campaign entered the home stretch.

Strong backing for John E. Hurley, Democratic candidate for state treasurer, and for Clarence A. Barnes, Republican candidate for attorney-general, promised more than the usual number of split tickets. Supporters of State Auditor Thomas J. Buckley, again the Democratic nominee, also claimed strength in Republican circles.

In addition to carrying the name Hurley, which wields a magic influence in contests for the office of State Treasurer, John E. Hurley of Dorchester, the Democratic candidate offers a business background and legislative career which give him excellent qualifications for the office, declared speakers in his behalf.

So popular has the name Hurley been with Massachusetts voters that a Hurley has been treasurer of the State for the past 14 years.

Former Gov. Charles F. Hurley was the first and attained the governorship in 1936 after serving three terms. He was succeeded by William E. Hurley, Republican and former Boston postmaster, and the latter, in turn, was replaced in 1942 by Treasurer Francis X. Hurley.

Now John E. Hurley aspires to the office and not only Democrats but many Republicans are responding to his cause his backers said.

A Republican newspaper, the Springfield Union in an editorial Wednesday came out solidly for Hurley's election although, in line with its political policy, it endorsed the election of the remainder of the Republican ticket.

"This is a Republican newspaper, as everyone knows," the editorial stated, "but there are times, and this is one of them, when duty to party is transcended by duty to good government. Hence, we shall work and vote for John E. Hurley for state treasurer.

Hurley, 36, was graduated from St. Margaret's School, Dorchester, Boston College High School and Boston College in the class of 1930.

In that same year he was chosen by his neighbors to represent them in the Legislature and served two terms before Atty. Gen. Paul A. Dever named him as his executive secretary, a position he held for six years until Dever's nearly successful gubernatorial fight in 1940.

Since 1940 he has worked as financial comptroller for a retail store chain giving him background that would be valuable to him as treasurer and receiver general of the Commonwealth.

IT'S REAL—PFC Gerand T. Roberts of Springfield, who has been in the front lines since he landed in France on D-Day, can't believe his eyes as he feels the mattress on the bed that will be his, during stay at rest camp somewhere in Europe.

In 1939 he was married to the former Margaret Lee and the couple have two children, Janice and John, Jr.

Clarence A. Barnes, Republican candidate for attorney general, returned to Boston today after completing a state-wide tour from Provincetown at the tip of Cape Cod to Williamstown in the Berkshire. The candidate said:

"After five weeks of strenuous campaigning from one end of the state to the other, I do not hesitate in declaring that I will win this fight by more than 50,000 votes.

"I will win this fight because the attorney general's office must have a man with the experience and qualifications that my own legal career has given me during the past 30 years. The people of this commonwealth will see to that.

"The independent voters and the so-called silent vote will send a man of my experience and legal training to the attorney general's office for the next two years because the voters of this state know that this important office will be that much more important during the coming years.

"The returning veterans need a man as attorney general who can be trusted. The mothers and fathers have heard my solemn pledge that I will open a department in the attorney general's office that will take care of the veterans' problems and see that their dependents have a legal representative who will work for their every interest.

"My legal experience has ranged over the entire field of law, both in the trials and consultations. I have been town moderator, town counsel, state representative, member of the Constitutional Convention, and Governor's councillor, which office I now hold.

"The attorney general's office must have a man who can be relied upon to protect all the people of the Commonwealth.

"I will be elected attorney general of Massachusetts because the people demand that their attorney general be a man who is not bought and sold at the stroke of a politician's pen."

Army Clears Man After Long Trip With Socialite

JEFFERSON BARRACKS, Mo., Nov. 4—Cleared of charges which resulted in a 10-year court martial sentence following his cross-country trip with Mrs. Alice Rand de Tarnowski, former Boston socialite whom he later married, Pvt. Charles Robert Lorne Fisk McIntosh, 31, member of a wealthy Detroit family, today was restored to honorable standing in the Army.

McIntosh was released from the Army rehabilitation center here where he served less than a year. Capt. Charles Rowan, adjutant, said McIntosh is now awaiting reinstatement. He was brought here after being held at Fort Sheridan, Ill., and Camp Phillips, Salinas, Kan.

The Army private was charged with going AWOL and financing his trip with Mrs. de Tarnowski of Barrington, Ill., then the wife of an Army captain, with bad check charges were nol prossed in Chicago Oct. 17 by Federal Judge William J. Campbell.

Fellow soldiers said McIntosh was hopeful of getting a brief furlough for a reunion with his wife, who married him after he was arrested. At the time of his sentence, his bride, daughter of the late Frank H. Rand, once bursar of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, promised to wait for him.

"When it's all over," she said, "I'll be waiting for him. I believe in him. I'll stand by him. Ours was love at first sight and is greater than I can describe."

McIntosh won his freedom from the court martial sentence by virtue of a ruling of Maj. Gen. H. S. Aurand, chief of the Sixth Service Command, who last January cut three years from the original term and stated the soldier could be eligible for release at the end of six months in a rehabilitation center.

Pupils Declare Strike Continues

WEST BRIDGEWATER, Nov. 4—Despite School Supt. Charles G. Taylor's announcement that the 75 Howard High School students who walked out in protest against a new marking system "keenly feel the disgrace they have attached to the school," spokesmen for the striking pupils said they had no intention of returning to classes Monday.

"There'll be at least 100 of us absent then," one student said.

Supt. Taylor said the dispute boiled down to just one thing—whether the school authorities or the pupils are running the schools. As far as he's concerned, he said, it's certainly not the pupils.

Maine Girl Held In Dad's Death

PRESQUE ISLE, Me., Nov. 4 (AP) — Sheriff Jasper Lycette said today Mrs. Marie Henry, 21, was being held on a charge of murder in the fatal shooting of her father, George Staples, 58, in his farm home yesterday.

The girl related she shot her father with a rifle yesterday after he had beaten her and was attacking her mother.

Her story, continued the sheriff, was that her father had been drinking and threatened to kill the family.

The girl, whose husband is in the Army overseas, summoned Presque Isle's Police Chief Perley Rees, who called the sheriff. Mrs. Henry's 1-year-old child was in the house at the time.

Sheriff Lycette said she would appear in Presque Isle municipal court Monday or Tuesday.

Four More Felled By Food Poisoning

While nine Cambridge City Hospital nurses were being released from the hospital after treatment for food poisoning, a Cambridge mother and her three children were stricken with the same malady today following a meal of frankfurters.

Mrs. Helen Berg, 29, of Charles st., became ill at her home while a physician was treating her children who had suffered attacks earlier.

Meanwhile state health authorities began investigations of the Back Bay restaurants where the nurses ate and the Cambridge store where the Berg family obtained frankfurters for their supper last night.

Mrs. Berg and her children, Evelyn, 12; Barbara, 10, and Roy, 8, told Dr. M. R. Becker of Broadway, Cambridge, who treated them that they noticed nothing "unusual" about the meat when they ate it.

All were confined to their beds and Dr. Becker notified Dr. Simon B. Kelleher, Cambridge board of health physician.

The nurses made "remarkable" recoveries according to Miss Gertrude Stapleton, nurse superintendent. They suffered gastronic disturbances in their Huntington ave., Back Bay, classroom, a short distance from the restaurant where they ate.

Their cases puzzled officials since all had not eaten the same foods.

They were given weekend holidays and ordered to report for classes and duties Monday.

They are Margaret Goodine, 22, Gallivan blvd., Dorchester; Monica E. McLaughlin, 17, Cushman rd., Brighton; Catherine E. Sweeney, 19, Fort ave., Roxbury; Mary T. McCormack, 17, Main st.; Eleanor Paine, 18, Wade st., and Margaret T. Pigott, 18, Prospect st., all of Woburn; Hester L. Ward 18, Mechanic st., Leominster; Jean T. Fournier, 18, Fitchburg, and Pauline Larrivee, 19, Fall River.

Missing Nurse Search Halted

MONSON, Me., Nov. 4—Hopeful that Miss Saimi Suomi, 29-year-old Newton, Mass., nurse, may turn up of her own accord, Sheriff Lyle Town said today organized search for the girl would be discontinued for a few days.

The sheriff said decision to stop the search, which has been under way for three days, was reached at a conference with Piscataquis County commissioners. Town said the commissioners felt that Miss Suomi, clad only in a nightgown and coat, might have been reluctant to appear before a posse of men searchers.

The nurse had come to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elam Suomi, for a rest a week ago. She disappeared following a fire in her parents' home and was later reported seen in the nearby town of Blanchard.

War Fund Workers Urged to Speed Up

Although the Greater Boston United War Fund campaign neared the three million mark today, with an estimated total of $2,945,280, General Chairman Henry A. Laughlin described the drive's progress as "fair, but we have to keep it rolling faster and faster."

In a special plea to campaign workers, Laughlin urged them to make as many calls as possible over the week-end. He announced that Wellesley tomorrow will hold its third annual Stay-at-home Sunday, and that as a result Kenneth R. MacKenzie, Wellesley chairman, anticipates announcing completion of the town's $83,000 quota at the community's Dutch treat supper tomorrow night.

Today's Red Feather award goes to 1000 Somerville Girl Scouts who are spending the day washing windows for their mothers to earn money which will be contributed to the fund.

Budapest Under Siege; Reds Encircling Capital

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Nov. 4 (AP)—Russian troops laid siege today to Budapest and front dispatches said the German and Hungarian defenders had fallen back into the Hungarian capital itself. Red tanks were said to be battering at the outskirts of Pest, the part of the capital on the east bank of the Danube. Fighting was raging well within Budapest's outer defenses.

(A Reuters dispatch said the Russians had hurled an armored column around north of the city in an encircling move.)

The capital itself was reported unofficially to be enveloped in wild disorder as the Nazi remnants poured through the streets.

Hundreds of fugitives were said to be jamming railways and highways toward Vienna, 146 miles to the north.

Red Star reported the "field army" formed by the Hungarian puppet government had been routed outside the capital and a captured captain said out of one division only 200 men remained after three days of intensive battle.

The newspaper describes German and Hungarian losses in manpower as "immense," particularly near the tributary of the Danube just south of Budapest where Red troops wiped out 20 tanks in a great "slaughter" last night.

Capture of Pest appeared imminent, but fall of Buda on the west side of the Danube was another matter. The Danube is broad and there was no word on whether the Russians had seized any bridges.

The Soviet communique last night reported capture of Alsonemeda, seven miles south of Budapest, as the nearest point to the capital reached by Red forces sweeping across the boggy plains between the Danube and Tisza. It was one of 100 communities enveloped.

NEAR BUDAPEST — Russian troops are seven miles from Budapest, Hungarian capital, in assault to gain that important objective, after securing Bugya (arrow), 14 miles south of the prize city. Berlin claims the situation "critical." Polgar, to the northeast, also fell to Red units today. Shaded area is the battlefront.

Typhoons, Mud Add To Ordeal of Leyte

By LEIF ERICKSON

DULAG, Leyte Island, Philippines, Oct. 31 (delayed) (AP)—Life for a "Joe Blow" in this flat, undrained eastern Leyte valley is just a continuous, miserable round of work—in rain, mud or dust—and flopping down in the dirt in the chow line every time a low-flying Japanese plane buzzes the treetops.

It is difficult to imagine a form of discomfort that Leyte does not have. The G. I. Joes and Navy beach party sailors talk long and loudly about what a hellhole Leyte was.

When it rains here the wind lashes a torrent of water through the trees and tents with the force of a hose.

The typhoon winds start from the west and swing to the south, then blow from the northeast. No corner in the tent will stay dry.

If you have a shelter half over a slit trench, you likely will be sitting in three feet of water by morning.

After the rain there is the mud. Alligators, weasels and trucks trying to break through to supply the infantry churn through it. Mud clings to your shoes like lead. Each time a Japanese plane approaches you dive into a foxhole knee-deep in mud or dust, depending upon the weather.

A bulk of the supplies for the Seventh and Ninth Divisions was moved inland over the Dulag-Burauen road which, barely wide enough for two-lane traffic, carried four.

As the Yanks captured barrios (villages) in their westward drive, Filipino refugees on the east coast started returning. At the same time civilians in battle sectors fled eastward to the coast. Traffic congestion was stupendous.

After a night typhoon the surf pounded Dulag beach where LSTS were unloading. Long lines of men tossed sandbags into the foaming water under the first ramps, working shoulder deep in Leyte gulf. Steel nets were laid on top of the sandbags to keep them from washing away.

None of this is nice work, but there's plenty of it.

Worcester Pupils Silent on Teachers' Vote

WORCESTER, Nov. 4—High school students today accepted in silence the vote of Worcester County teachers favoring retention of a wartime physical fitness and health program even when peace comes.

This program was one of the issues that resulted in a wild strike in which students stormed from classes and descended on city hall, finally stoning the home of the superintendent of schools.

The vote favoring permanent physical training was taken by 2500 teachers attending the 72d annual meeting of the Worcester County Teachers Ass'n.

Capt. Frederic A. Zehrer, First Service Command military training head, told teachers that "any demobilization plans following the defeat of Germany will not interrupt the induction of 18-year-old youths and therefore pre-induction physical and military training is more vital now than ever before."

Other speakers were Dr. Julius E. Warren, State Commissioner of Education; Jay Allen, war correspondent; Donald Dike, director, Massachusetts Teachers Federation; Dr. Donald D. Burrell, dean, Boston University School of Education; School Supt. Thomas F. Power of Worcester; Reuben L. Lurie, chairman, State Parole Board; Charles H. Mergendahl, Newton High School, and A. Russell Mack and Daniel J. Kelly, State Department of Education.

Officers elected were Miss Elizabeth S. McManus, Worcester, president; H. Lee Mushroe, Charlton; Francis T. Plunkett, Worcester, and Martin J. Earls, Southbridge, vice presidents; Helen V. Kennedy, Webster, treasurer; Frank Wylde, Webster, auditor, and Lyman Sleeper, Fitchburg, and Earl Brigham and Carl Berg, both of Worcester, directors.

Have a Coca-Cola = Going our way?

...or meeting a comrade in Northwest Canada

Friendship comes easy to allies devoted to common causes and borders without guns. Have a "Coke", says the Yank sergeant to the Canadian mountie, and he's talking a lingo of friendship that both understand. That's the informal North American way to say, Greetings, friend. It's the same informal way to put friends at ease in your own living room, too. From the Yukon to the Gulf, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—a symbol of a friendly way to get along with folks.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

Peleliu Worst, Marine Avers

By S-SGT. DICK HANNAH
(Marine Corps Combat Correspondent, Formerly of the Los Angeles Examiner)

U. S. NAVAL HOSPITAL, Oakland, Cal.—Blasted by a Jap mortar shell and then shot in the chest as he and 16 other Marines—only able survivors of a 290-man outfit—attempted to fight their way up Bloody Nose Ridge at Peleliu, Platoon Sgt. Irving C. Le Beau of 67 Lowell rd., Wellesley Hills, Mass., has arrived here for convalescence. He is 25, and the son of Irving D. Le Beau, Boston broker.

"I have been overseas," he said, "for 28 months, 26 days and 14 hours . . . and I thought I had seen everything, until we hit Peleliu."

SGT. IRVING C. LE BEAU

Serving with a rifle company of the renowned First Marine Division, he landed with the original assault forces at Guadalcanal, Aug. 7, 1942, and spent five months in battle there.

He took part in the campaign for Finschhafen, New Guinea, and fought his way ashore at Cape Gloucester, New Britain, to weather 14 weeks of almost incessant combat.

"But those were holidays," he said, "compared to Peleliu. I mean it!

"I rode to the beach on D-Day in an amphibian tractor. Two others immediately to our right were blown out of the water before we got half way in.

"A sniper picked me out shortly after I made the shore, and spun me around with a heavy rifle slug. I spent five minutes looking for a bullet hole in myself, but there wasn't any. The slug had hit the knife hanging from my cartridge belt."

The sergeant escaped injury the first three days, leading his detail through a chain of ferocious engagements.

"We were constantly on the push," declared Le Beau. "There wasn't even time to eat. And we seldom saw the enemy. That's one thing that made it so tough. They were dug in, everywhere. Only way to dig them out was with flame throwers and demolitions.

"On the fourth morning, my outfit was trying to advance up a side of Bloody Nose Ridge. There were 17 of us left. We had come ashore with 290.

"Directly above us were two machine gun nests we wanted to take. I still don't know whether the boys took them, because right at that point was where I got it. A mortar shell, lobbed from higher up the ridge, exploded close enough that I was knocked unconscious for a moment or two, and my helmet was ripped open.

"When I came to, I discovered a gash across the back of my head, but it wasn't really bad.

"I stood up, and that was my last voluntary action on Peleliu. A rifle slug hit me in the chest. I was carried to the beach on a stretcher, and put aboard a hospital ship."

Asked if he had brought any Jap souvenirs with him, the veteran replied:

"I don't pick up souvenirs. I saw a buddy of mine pick up what he thought was a Jap souvenir at Guadalcanal, and I helped bury what was left of him."

Platoon Sgt. Le Beau went overseas as a private in June, 1942, which means he received four promotions in the field.

"Nine glorious months at Melbourne, Australia," he said, "were the best duty I ever had."

This, despite the fact he spent four of those months in a Melbourne hospital, suffering from malaria contracted at Guadalcanal, and a chronically-dislocated shoulder which has bothered him since he was injured as a boy, playing sandlot football.

"Most impressing to me while overseas," he declared, "has been the constant improvement in our weapons and personal equipment. We have had everything we could ask."

Gov. Saltonstall In Peace Plea

In a stirring plea for just peace, Gov. Saltonstall has asked in proclamation that Nov. 11, Armistice Day, be spent in prayer and in honoring America's dead of two wars. The Governor said:

"It must be as a day made holy by the fathers, sons, and brothers who have fought two wars to keep us free from dictators and despots of oppressor nations.

"Our shores are no longer threatened by invaders but thousands of men and women are still held captive by the enemy.

"We therefore pledge our determination to fight until the

Captor of 50 Shy As He Flies Home

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 4 (AP) — PFC John H. Zawacki was home from battle today.

The 39-year-old Erie, Pa., soldier's pants were stuffed into scuffed boots when he stepped off an air transport command plane here yesterday.

Hours of squinting for Nazi snipers had etched crow's feet under his eyes. He was unshaven and admitted he was tired—tired of two years on the battlefield in North Africa, in Italy and France.

Winner of the Silver Star for gallantry in action, Zawacki mumbled that he'd "done nothing."

"Except capture 50 Germans single-handed," interrupted Army officers.

"Aw, I just held my gun on them until the rest of my buddies came up," insisted Zawacki.

The Army considered it sufficient to warrant air transportation home for the battle-weary soldier.

U. S. Warship Caught in Hell Of Deadly Allied Rocket Fire

By W. R. HIGGINBOTHAM

ABOARD HEADQUARTERS SHIP OFF WALCHEREN, Nov. 1 (delayed) (INS)—The men aboard this vessel and a gunboat standing off Walcheren have just been through an experience hitherto known only to the Germans—a few horrible moments under the direct fire of an Allied rocket ship, one of this war's most terrifying weapons.

Both vessels were within range of German guns when the rockets, accidentally misdirected, began falling 200 yards away and a drumroll barrage crept across the sea toward us.

The two minutes of hell descended in this accident in the tremendous bombardment accompanying the assault on Walcheren island, near Westkapelle.

When they saw it coming, every man aboard gave up his life in a single flicker of belief that he did not have a chance.

Everyone crouched on deck as the torrent of sound, shattering fragments and acrid smoke enveloped him.

But by some freak of chance this vessel got off with a single minor nick and without casualties. Only because we were two small targets in a big expanse of ocean were we missed.

Now a great many British sailors and one American war correspondent know why the Germans come out from under such barrages blubbering like children, their courage gone.

Poland Awaiting U. S. Election

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Poland's exiled government will delay a decision on accepting Russia's terms for accord until after the United States presidential elections and then may press Washington for a clear-cut statement on its position, a Pole close to government circles said today.

The informant, who cannot be identified by name, declared Poland was confronted at the moment by a "choice of being murdered or of committing suicide."

The result is the same in either case," he said, "so nothing is lost by remaining silent for the time being.

"Unless Poland can be guaranteed her independence—and, to be frank, be sure she will not have Communism imposed upon her—it would be foolish for the government to act. It would be suicide."

One GI Joe Learns About French Girls

By HAL BOYLE

WITH AMERICAN SEVENTH ARMY IN FRANCE, Oct. 27 (Delayed) (AP)—"These French girls are hard to figure out," said the soldier from Wyoming.

"Yeah," said the soldier from Kentucky.

"Lot harder than those gals we knew in Italy."

"Yeah."

"Take those gals in Italy. All you had to do was to say you was going to marry them and take them to America and you was the same as the King. Nothing they wouldn't do for you."

"Yeah."

"But these French gals—you tell them you are going to take them to America after the war and that don't settle anything. They are what you call 'difficile.' That is French for 'difficult.'"

"Yeah."

We had picked up the two soldiers in our jeep as we passed through a small French village in which they had been stationed some time before. They had revisited their girl friends and were returning to their camp.

The soldier from Wyoming was a short, stocky blond boy of 20, lively as a cricket. His friend from Kentucky was a few years older, dark featured and solemn faced.

"My girl's name is Rolande," said Wyoming. "She's the prettiest blonde I ever saw. She's only 18."

"My girl's named Francelle," volunteered Kentucky. "I seen prettier girls since I come overseas two years ago—but not around here."

"Mine, too."

"When I get back home I am going to marry a nice farm girl," mused Wyoming.

"That's right," said Kentucky. "You can't beat a good farm girl.

"Rolande thinks she's going to live in Wyoming after the war."

"Yeah and Francelle thinks that she's going to live in Kentucky."

They looked at each other and laughed so hard the tears ran out of their eyes.

"Francelle gave me a couple of presents," said Kentcky. He held out a small bottle of cheap perfume.

"She also gave me an envelope and told me to open it when I got back to camp," said Kentucky. "Let's see what is in it."

He tore open the cheap white envelope. He shook it impatiently—and a soiled and crumpled hundred-franc note slipped into his hands.

Wyoming looked at the crumpled bill in his friend's hand. He stopped laughing.

"She knew I was broke," said Kentucky uncomfortably.

"Maybe," he said, "she may live in Kentucky after the war."

"Maybe," said Wyoming.

"THE HEARST PAPERS support the American system of government, the American Constitution, American institutions and American ideals."

William Randolph Hearst
Publisher

THE above is from an editorial written by William Randolph Hearst on April 21, 1935, on the policy of the Hearst papers.

The American system of government has been the model and pattern of all other governments for 150 years because FREEDOM has been its cornerstone.

The American Constitution is the greatest charter of guaranteed liberties ever struck off by the hand of man.

The proof that American institutions and ideals are the highest on earth lies in the fact that peoples from all over the world have come to make their home here.

Our system of government, our Constitution, our institutions, our ideals are in still greater danger today than when Mr. Hearst uttered these words.

TODAY the Hearst papers are the very incarnation of the AMERICAN WAY.

And that is why the Hearst newspapers are good newspapers for our readers and good newspapers for our advertisers.

Learn How to Smile For Mouth Glamour

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

CHARM, the dictionary says, is allurement, fascination, a magic spell, a small ornament . . . but we say it is a smiling countenance . . . a heart-warming, unforgettable gesture of the mouth with corners upturned to give the best kind of facial lift.

Or would you rather be a grim-lipped sister . . . with an uncompromising, superannuated line for a mouth . . . a mouth that is anything but kind, cheering and graceful as you confront your audience. Hie yourself quickly to the mirror and see what goes on there for an expression.

When you look at someone do you go through the motions of just trying to smile . . . with a feeble and automatic external movement of the muscles of your mouth? Or do you react from the depths of your heart to the person engaging you? Give her a part of your mind for a moment? Think of how much you like her . . . or him . . . and how pleased you are at the meeting . . . or be truly amused by what has been said. But, don't smile at all . . . if you can't smile sincerely . . . if you can't turn those corners up in happy recognition of a happy day.

REFLECTS CHARMING PERSONALITY

Don't be a lip-drip. Don't be one of those women who refuse to let their mouths go . . . who keep their lips so firmly tightened lest they be termed frivolous. Sartorially you may know your way around . . . all the luxury money can buy may be heaped on your head and back . . . but what does it profit a woman to gain the reputation of being a clothes-horse if her name is listed in the ranks of the tight-droopy-lipped gals?

The season is full of feminine frippery . . . everything is soft and appealing to make you the devastating grand lady . . . but every stitch of finery, however costly, will be ruined unless you learn how to smile heavenward . . . with a newborn graciousness reflective of a charming personality. You lipstick your mouth into color . . . but all the magic of coloring won't help unless you train the corners of your mouth to "reach for the moon."

You say you haven't much to smile about lately . . . that you know sorrow and worry . . . disillusion and disappointment? Even the women with downhearted mouths have the urge to dress . . . to keep up appearances . . . to keep fit and well-being . . . to buy cosmetics and use them . . . to wear a becoming hair-do and walk in fine footing. So look to your mouth, Milady, and may it ever be upward.

EVEN A PLAIN FACE has beauty with a lovely smile that bespeaks a charming personality and perpetuates a pleasant expression. There's value in a heartfelt smile . . . and an interesting and appealing facial lift when the corners of the mouth are upturned. Lovely Paramount star Joan Fontaine poses.

Driscoll-Poindexter Ceremony

By BETTY ALDEN

MR. AND MRS. EDGAR J. DRISCOLL with debutante daughter, Sheila, of West Roxbury, are in Virginia today for the wedding of their son, Lt. John Driscoll, USNR, to Frances Page Poindexter, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Poindexter of Warwick County, Va.

The groom, Harvard '40, has recently returned from Atlantic duty. His bride is a graduate of St. Catherine's School, Pine Manor Junior College and Katharine Gibbs in Boston. She belongs to the Colonial Dames of America and Daughters of the American Revolution.

SYMPHONY ATTRACTS MANY

A number of prominent socialites who are working night and day for the Red Feather campaign played hookey from their volunteer jobs for a few hours of much needed relaxation at Symphony yesterday.

Up from Swampscott, Mrs. Richard H. Thompson subwayed to the famous hall of music on Huntington ave., and was modishly dressed in black with a Persian coat. She is a sister of Lt. (jg) Henry Harrison Proctor, one of the club's most eligible bachelors until his wedding last week in London to Hon. Mrs. Somerset Maxwell.

Pink feathers on her hat, pink gloves and matching rose brightened Mrs. Augustus Rantoul's beige fox jacket and black dress. She is the mother of post deb Charlotte Rantoul, whose romance with Capt. Paul Bonner, Jr., of New York, has just been revealed from England where both are stationed. Mrs. Rantoul arrived at Symphony with Mrs. Allan Forbes.

WEARS POWDER BLUE

Lucy Pope (Mrs. Bernard) Fox, well known socialite skater and tennis player, was pretty in a powder blue suit and hat. Mrs. James Lawrence, Jr., had huge gold initials on her purse and wore an air force blue suit with matching helmet swathed in veiling.

Others were Mrs. Donald McElwain, chatting with Mrs. John Perrin, Mrs. Conover Fitch, Jr., a symphony in crimson and navy, with her mother, Mrs. F. C. Hall, Mrs. Richard P. Hawkins, Mrs. Charles Petit and Mrs. George Putnam, mother of a WAC in England and a WAVE on duty in this country.

ON POST DEB FRONT

Off to New York in quest of a business career, Carol Bayne of Westwood has landed a job in the advertising department of one of the nation's most famous dress designers. Her sister, Patricia, is overseas with the Red Cross.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Friday—We listened to my husband's speech last night, and I do feel sorry that he has not been able to leave Washington this week. Every woman knows, however, that the choice between first things and second things must be made almost daily in everybody's life.

If a child is sick, you subordinate everything else in the house to the care of the child. If the country is at war, there are bound to be a constant number of little problems and big ones, but even the little ones may not be shirked.

I do not think, however, that making campaign speeches and traveling to different places is time wasted. I have a feeling that every public servant should renew his contact with the people as often as possible when he is in office, and this is doubly true when a campaign is going on.

A LADY FROM California wrote me an amusing little anecdote. It is about her little daughter, who once fell into conversation with an elderly woman and made a discovery.

"Know what, mummy?" she said. "That woman isn't grown up." Rather baffled, her mother asked her how she knew, and the child replied: "'Cause she didn't vote."

Then my correspondent went on to tell me that they make it a family custom to take the children with them when they go to the polls on election day.

The children hear the political discussions on the way to the polls and back; they meet people who differ in their political points of view; and, most important of all, they learn that when you are grown up, you vote—which becomes for them a sign of maturity.

I THINK THIS IDEA of family voting experience, even when a child is very young, is an excellent one. It might be a way of bringing about a consciousness of our responsibility as citizens

Goodies for Service Boys

By Martha Lee

IF WE CAN'T have all our loved ones with us for Thanksgiving this year, we can at least send a bit of home along to them in the form of home-made goodies. We all know how much those who are away in the services look forward to packages and letters from home. So let's get off those Thanksgiving greetings early. Naturally, we can't send anything overseas at this date, but for those boys and girls stationed in this country there is still time.

Of course, just what you send depends somewhat on the particular preferences of the recipient. But it should be something that keeps well and will travel without undue damage. Candy, cakes and cookies are really the best choice, for certain kinds keep very well. No doubt you have your favorite recipes, but for variety's sake you might like to try some of the ones given here today.

QUICK COFFEE FUDGE

2 squares chocolate
1 tbsp. shortening
1-3 tsp. salt
1 lb. sifted confectioner's sugar
¼ cup hot coffee

Melt chocolate and shortening in double boiler over hot water. Add salt. Stir in sugar and coffee alternately, stirring until perfectly smooth and well blended. Pour at once into greased 7x7-inch pan. When cool cut into squares.

Almond Caramel Candy

ALMOND CARAMEL CANDY

This chewy almond caramel candy is exactly what service men and women who are not overseas will enjoy finding in their boxes from home. Incidentally, they are not the only ones who will like it. You'll want to repeat this recipe again and again.

1⅓ cups sugar
¼ cup cold water
¾ cup light corn syrup
4 tbsp. butter or margarine
3 (1-oz.) squares bitter chocolate
1 cup table cream
1 cup roasted blanched almonds
2 tsp. vanilla extract
⅛ tsp. salt

Combine sugar, water, syrup, and butter cut in small pieces, and bring to a boil. Add chocolate that has been melted over warm water, and stir to blend. Cook to 240 deg. F., stir to prevent scorching. Add cream that has been heated to the boiling point, a small portion at a time. Cook to 250 deg. F.; stir to prevent scorching. Remove from heat, add almonds, flavoring and salt and stir to blend. Pour onto a buttered slab or pan and cool. When cool enough to handle, form into rolls; cool. Cut into pieces of desired size. Wrap in wax paper. Makes 1½ pounds.

OATMEAL COOKIES

Choose cookies that will travel well. Wrap 3 or 4 together in waxed paper and pack standing on end in a box lined with crumpled tissue paper. Place more tissue paper on top before closing the box. This will protect the cookies and they will travel without breaking.

¾ cup sugar 1 egg
½ cup shortening
½ cup raisins, chopped or put through a food chopper
1 cup fine oatmeal
⅜ tsp. soda ½ tsp. salt
1¼ cups sifted flour

Cream shortening and sugar until light, beat in egg. Cover raisins with hot water a minute, then drain and dry between towels. (This makes them easier to chop.) Add to the batter and mix thoroughly, then add the dry ingredients. With a teaspoon, drop small mounds on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in 400 deg. oven for 8 to 10 minutes. Remove from sheet immediately after baking.

IF YOU'RE a sophisticated junior who dotes on girlish versions of grown-up styles . . . this black rayon crepe party dress . . . with smart shoulder and waistline accents . . . will give you a sweet, simple, yet adult look. A Dorris Varnum design . . . the dress features double bow ties at the belt line and cape-like ruffles for a covered look of the arms. Note eye-veil caught up with a flower-cluster partly placed at the side of the head.—R. M.

F. D. Thousand Club Lags With 94 Names

By RAYMOND WILCOVE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (INS) — The One Thousand Club, attacked by Gov. Dewey as a "special privilege" group, apparently fell far short of its goal of enrolling 1000 members who would contribute $1,000,000 to the 1944 Democratic campaign fund.

According to a financial statement filed with the clerk of the House, 94 members contributed $1000 each between Oct. 5, when a campaign for contributions opened, and Oct. 31. One contributor of $100 was also listed, making a total of $94,100 received. The most noted member is President Roosevelt, listed as contributing $1000 Oct. 31.

The Republican presidential nominee attacked the organization, whose headquarters are in Chicago, several days ago as "Mr. Roosevelt's Club." He charged it offered "to give 'special privilege' to a select group of men who can afford a thousand dollars for a campaign contribution."

The President old his news conference recently, however, he did not recall giving any contribution to the club and it was understood he was given a membership certificate on the basis of $1000 he contributed to the Democratic National Committee. Asked by a reporter, "What privilege does it give you?" The President laughed and said, frankly, he didn't know.

The club's financial statement, filed by George K. Bowden of Chicago, national treasurer, disclosed that most of the $94,100 received during October was spent in aiding the campaigns of 114 Democratic candidates for the House of Representatives. The club contributed $50,000 for this purpose.

An additional $10,000 was contributed to the Democratic national senatorial campaign committee. The remainder of the $64,217 spent during October went largely for traveling expenses. The largest sum went to Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, who received $796 on Oct. 4, a day before the club received any contributions.

Among some of the $1000 contributors were listed Marshall Field, publisher of the Chicago Sun and PM; Rep. Wright Patman (D.) of Texas, the only Congressman to contribute; Gov. R. S. Kerr of Oklahoma and Gov. J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island. Frank J. Lewis of Chicago, the organization's chairman, also contributed $1000, as did Bowden, its treasurer.

Quads Normal, Pass 48-Hr. Test

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4 (INS) —The Cirminello quadruplets, first quads to be delivered in a Caesarean section, successfully passed through their crucial first 48 hours as officials of the Lying-in Hospital in Philadelphia reported the body functions of all four appear to be normal.

"Considerable attention," however, a spokesman reported, is being given to the little boy, last of the four to be born to Mrs. Joseph Cirminello of Upper Darby.

"The boy still has a little respiratory difficulty," the hospital's bulletin said. "His lungs are not yet fully expanded, but he has a good, lusty cry. The boy retains his food well, and has good color."

Mrs. Cirminello, 30-year-old attractive brunette, was reported to be making "very good normal progress." No names have yet been given the quads.

One Killed as B.-O. Engine Crashes Car

RIDGWAY, Pa., Nov. 4 (INS) —One man was killed and a score were shaken up today when a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train locomotive smashed into an automobile, toppled over onto an adjoining track and was hit by a freight train.

J. F. Deveraux, 27, of Salmanaca, N. Y., a fireman on the freight, was killed. Twelve freight cars were derailed.

Federal Housing Tenants' Vote Upheld

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4 (AP)— Atty. Gen. Thomas J. Herbert held today that persons had the right to vote regardless of the fact that they lived in federal housing projects.

Karl Bull, Greene County Republican chairman, had questioned the right of 1000 persons in two projects and employed on government reservations to vote next Tuesday.

And things here in Hartford are still humming today.

"In 1936 Republican campaign strategists tried to instill fear in again by trying to instill fear in the minds of the American people by saying the social security funds of the United States were not safe."

The President's first New England appearance on his tour was made at Bridgeport, shortly after 10 a. m. and drew a railroad station crowd which he told:

"I can't talk about my opponent the way I'd like because I like to think I am a Christian. There is nothing to be gained by saying dreadful things."

He predicted many persons would be sorry after the election Tuesday for utterances made in the campaign.

The President prefaced his ramarks with a statement that he was hopeful industrial Bridgeport never again would be required to manufacture munitions for a world war.

He also took time to speak favorably of the Democratic State ticket in Connecticut and said he looked forward to receiving Margaret Connors at the White House.

She is opposing the re-election ambitions of U. S. Rep. Clare Boothe Luce, one of the President's most caustic critics.

The President also had a talk scheduled at Springfield and a pause at Worcester where Sen. David I. Walsh will get aboard.

Among those on the special train was John G. Winant, ambassador to Great Britain and former Governor of New Hampshire, stumping for the fourth term. Another was Orsen Welles, who will participate in the Fenway Park meeting tonight.

The big moment, capstone of seven Roosevelt campaign speeches, comes at Fenway Park at 9 tonight when 40,000 wildly enthusiastic supporters will hear the nation's leader—and cheer.

More important, however, are the millions—many of them still with doubts—who will listen in clubs, homes, war plants and Army camps as the President outlines a 12-year stewardship.

Democratic advisers also have told the President he must answer charges Dewey made in Boston Garden, Wednesday. The latter charged that the New Deal was now fronting for the Communist party through the money and graces of Sidney Hillman.

The Dewey charge that Communists have taken a firm hand on Democrat reins has been taken seriously by Massachusetts voters, according to the best political observers.

Democrats are waiting tonight for their President to deny this charge and convincingly prove it false.

National Democratic Chairman Robert Hannegan already has branded this charge as "an unmitigated lie," and former Cong. Joseph E. Casey, also a Clintonite, has been denying it in a series of radio broadcasts ever since. The President is expected to really wind up and toss his best punches at this charge.

Repeated charges that Vice-Presidential Candidate Truman once was a member of the hated Ku Klux Klan—along with affidavits from KKK officials—have swept Massachusetts and the nation.

Whether or not the President will touch on this in the Klan-hating Bay State is a matter that only tonight will tell.

Gates at Fenway Park will open for a program of entertainment at 5:30 p. m., but the President will remain aboard his special in the Allston yards until just before the hour of his speech.

Speech making will begin at 8 p. m., when William H. Burke, Jr., state Democratic chairman, will introduce Cong. Casey of Clinton, the presiding officer.

Speakers will include all members of the state ticket and Cong James M. Curley, as well as National Chairman Hannegan.

The President's climactic moment comes at 9 o'clock when he enters the park flanked by his secret service agents and picked details of Boston and Metropolitan police. Safety of the Chief Executive will be in the hands of 1000 policemen, who will line the path from the railroad yards to the ball park.

This is the third and last political trip for the President in his fourth term try.

After tonight's windup speech, the President will leave for his Hyde Park, N. Y., estate for a Sabbath rest before making his traditional visits to communities throughout his Hudson county.

pearances or radio addresses in the immediate future," he said.

The next day he received the President's invitation to come aboard the train when it should arrive at Worcester. The Democrats arranging the radio time waited until the last minute for Walsh to change his mind, then substituted Cong. Casey of Clinton.

Inasmuch as Sen. Walsh is acknowledged to be his party's undeniable leader in Massachusetts and top vote-getter, it was expected today's development would have repercussions beyond the borders of this state.

The Truman accusation, therefore, was becoming widely classified as a prime boner of the 1944 presidential campaign, for Walsh had endorsed the national ticket at a Truman rally in Lawrence only a day or two before he found himself criticized by the vice-presidential candidate.

Truman's apparently gratuitous remark was made in a press conference at Providence. The Missouri candidate said Walsh was an isolationist who might be "reformed."

Walsh countered by stressing his efforts to keep the United States out of war had been sincere pre-Pearl Harbor efforts. He added: "Now and hereafter, according to Sen. Truman's views, if a man wants to be a patriot, he must be a warmonger."

Walsh's mood today possibly was indicated best when he said, in first answering Truman:

"If Sen. Truman said what he is reported to have said, it is an invitation to all who worked with might and main, heart and soul, head and hands—to keep our country out of war and our boys from fighting and dying on foreign battlefields—to walk out of the Democratic party. It will be so construed by 80 per cent of the people."

Walsh also asserted: "I will support the Democratic ticket—in spite of Sen. Truman. But if Sen. Truman is trying to wreck the Democratic party he is doing a good job of it."

It was too early to learn what President Roosevelt's reaction to Walsh's stand today would be. There was conjecture that if Walsh could terminate his visit aboard the train before it left Worcester, without being too abrupt, he might do so.

Apparently the Clinton senator had made up his mind about staying away from the Fenway Park rally not later than this morning. He would make no definite statement last night. In revealing his position today he would give no reason for it, although the Truman episode was generally considered the spark that ignited his indignation.

U. S. Bombers Use Pathfinders in Fog

ROME, Nov. 4 (AP)—Flying through a heavy overcast which obscured the targets, U. S. 15th Air Force heavy bombers attacked military targets in Austria and southern Germany today.

At the same time FAF Mustangs struck at rail centers in Zagreb, Croatian capital, and the Maribor area of Yugoslavia, while U. S. Thunderbolts took a heavy toll of Nazi rolling stock in Italy's Po valley.

Flying Fortresses attacking at Regensburg used pathfinder instruments to locate their targets.

End the War VICTORIOUSLY
Make the Peace PERMANENTLY
Bring Our Boys Home PROMPTLY

PROMISE

FEW Americans know what President Roosevelt is going to say at Fenway Park tonight.

But millions of Americans all over the land remember his words in Boston four years ago.

They were:

"I have said this before, but I shall say it again and again and again.

"Your boys are NOT going to be sent into any foreign wars.

"They are going into training to form a force so strong that, by its very existence, it will keep the threat of war far away from our shores.

"The purpose of our defense is defense."

REAL WORKER

MRS. EDITH NOURSE ROGERS, Congresswoman from the Fifth Massachusetts District, is back in the United States.

During the past two months Mrs. Rogers visited battlefields and hospitals abroad, taking messages of hope and confidence to our fighting sons in the trenches and cheering them in their hours of pain and sorrow.

Because Mrs. Rogers braved enemy fire to talk to soldiers she will be able truly to express their needs and desires when Congress reconvenes.

Her first effort will be an appeal for an adequate number of specially equipped ships to bring the wounded back to this country for kind and sympathetic treatment in modern hospitals as near as possible to the men's families and friends.

For nearly twenty years Mrs. Rogers has fought effectively for the war veterans and helped to write many beneficial laws, including the G I Bill of Rights.

The heroic men who are fighting and winning the battles of this conflict can depend on her to continue her great work in their behalf.

TIME TO LEARN

OUR Massachusetts legislative candidates are not saying much about jury service for women. WHY?

Are the women of this State destined to remain in the category of children, morons and convicts?

Will they continue to be considered competent for important work in business, industry and the professions but not competent for participation in judicial deliberations?

Must a woman who was born in this country and who lived here all her life be regarded as the mental and emotional inferior of the naturalized man hardly able to read a line of the Constitution?

Now is the time for our wives, mothers and sisters to find out.

Let them buttonhole every person seeking election to the Legislature and demand:

"How do YOU stand on the vital question of jury service for women?"

PLAN TO VOTE

EVERY qualified person in the land should resolve now to cast a ballot in Tuesday's election.

Thus—and only thus—can the American at home prove himself worthy of the sacrifices and hardships of his defenders abroad who are preserving democracy at the risk and frequently at the cost of their lives.

Nothing should be allowed to interfere with voting. It is every citizen's patriotic duty and moral obligation.

Business and industrial establishments which have agreed not to dock their employes for working time lost at the polls deserve praise.

Good night, my darling,
wherever you are,
A million kisses, the miles are no bar,
Just call me, I'll hear you, my darling, my own
And send my love on the beam to guide your way home.
—A. La MOTHE SMITH.

AS I TOLD you, I have concluded I should start developing a small business to keep me in my old age in the event that my racing system fails to serve that purpose, as I expect. Consequently, I have been studying the hamburger emporium business. I think it is a good little business but it seems overcrowded. A kindly Chicago subscriber wrote me, saying: "Eddie, forget that hamburger emporium thing. Why don't you start an elegant 'for men only' bar? Thousands of men who are weary of bars packed with dizzy dames will be your grateful patrons." This man may have something. I could start a bar with a floor inlaid with silver dollars and call it "Silver Dollar" Durling's."

ASIDES: In some States a man who makes an election bet forfeits his vote. I believe New York is one of these States. If I am wrong, a flock of lawyers will be on the phone in the morning demanding stogies. Those lawyers are great stogie hounds . . . Have just been reading a brief biography of Thomas Sheraton, the furniture designer. The biographer omitted to state that Sheraton was the inventor of twin beds.

DISTURBING REMARK: "Even the harness races are getting crooked," sadly states a Hudson, N. Y., horse enthusiast. I hope he is wrong. I have had great faith in the honesty of the harness racers. This subscriber's pessimistic observation makes me feel like the kid who said to Joe Jackson at the time of the White Sox baseball scandal: "Say it ain't so, Joe; say it ain't so."

When television comes that fellow who has the "mythical ballroom" radio program is going to be in a spot . . . Q—What was the most popular dance hall in South Brooklyn in your dancing days? A—Hey, what do you mean, my "dancing days"? I still am quite a stepper about a dance floor. I don't know how much this query is going to interest my readers in Pysht, Wash., Smackover, Ark., and What Cheer, Ia., but when I lived in South Brooklyn the most popular dance place was Prospect Hall.

However, I once knew a young woman named Jerry Six. And that was her real name . . . Morton Downey. Sweet singer of sad and sentimental songs. He should be in more films being a clever comedian as well as a singer. A good character for him would be a New York police detective of Irish descent with a love for Irish music. The story could be a musical mystery. I shouldn't give these ideas away. And from now on I am not going to. My expenses are increasing. I'm buying a house. I'll have to write a few film stories to raise the mortgage.

S. is Hyacinthe Ringrose of New York . . . The faith the customers have in me is touching. They ask me everything. For example, a Long Islander asks: "What can be done with a phonograph record that is warped?" Says she has asked phonograph record dealers and they don't know. Neither do I. Is there a phonograph record expert among the customers who can help us on this query?

GET IT RIGHT: To keep the record straight as to who made the remark about the "sophistical rhetorician," it was Disraeli in a speech at the Riding School, Knightsbridge, London, June 27, 1878, when he said of Gladstone: 'He is a sophistical rhetorician inebriated with the exuberance of his own verbosity and gifted with an egotistical imagination that at all times can command an interminable and inconsistent series of arguments to malign an opponent or glorify himself." (Note—This description might be well applied to some men in public life at present. I will mention no names. Make your own guess.)

WASHINGTON SCENE

By GEORGE DIXON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—One of the favorite pastimes of our weightier brains here at home is to tell the rest of us what our soldiers overseas are thinking.

These omniscient marvels are divided mainly into two classes: (1) Those who have never been near any of the fighting fronts; (2) Those who have conducted fortnight surveys in London, Paris, and General Mac-Arthur's old front porch in New Guinea.

Mrs. Anna Rosenberg

Among the latter is Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, New York director of the War Manpower Commission, who recently took the time of the generals at the Pentagon Building to inform them that our boys must be "re-oriented" before they are returned to civilian life.

Mrs. Rosenberg acquired her knowledge in 17 days in France.

NATURALLY this impressed the generals because they are well aware that 17 days is ample time to learn anything.

I might add that I was impressed by Mrs. Rosenberg, too. But that is only because I am none too bright. However, I have just received a most disturbing letter.

It is signed by 32 soldiers in the Pacific.

The group consists of 19 sergeants, 8 corporals, and 5 privates. And their names, I think, represent a fine cross-section of America.

Enclosed in the letter are newspaper clippings: of mob scenes over Frank Sinatra; tourists taking off for Miami; a religious cult playing with snakes.

THE LETTER follows:

"We want to thank you for bringing to our attention the insane and idiotic suggestion that we soldiers will need to be 're-oriented' in order to become civilians.

"We wish you would see that Mrs. Rosenberg hears of our reactions to her lame-brain suggestion.

"We would also like to know the name of the general who listened to Mrs. Rosenberg and then said:

"'Re-orientation. Hell! Give a soldier a release, a job, and he will re-orient himself.'

"He is tops, in our estimation.

"Mr. Dixon, we would like you to show the enclosed clippings to Mrs. Rosenberg and ask her if she's sure it's the soldiers who need re-orientation!

"It could be that we are mentally unfitted to understand the things that go on in civilian minds. But we have been taught to believe that when the government attempts to tell the people not only how to act but how to think, then democracy is lost and we enter into a Fascist state.

"But isn't that what Mrs. Rosenberg advocates?

"It adds up to the same thing.

"MR. DIXON, it is our contention that things are pretty bad when our military heads have to halt their vital work to listen to the blabbings of a busybody.

"We sincerely hope you will give publicity to our letter in order to let people know how we feel about 're-orientation.'

"WE ARE POSITIVE THAT NO ONE, NOT EVEN MRS. ROSENBERG, WOULD HAVE THE GUTS TO STAND UP BEFORE THE VETERANS OF THIS WAR AND TELL THEM THAT—BEFORE GETTING THEIR MUCH HOPED FOR DISCHARGE—THEY WOULD HAVE TO TAKE A COURSE ON HOW TO BECOME A CIVILIAN.

"That, Mr. Dixon, would be the beginning of the revolution.

"We would also like to make clear that the views expressed herein are not the thoughts of a select few but constitute the viewpoint of representative soldiers from most of the States.

"Again let us thank you for bringing into the open this stab in our backs while we are otherwise occupied."

I DO NOT think this letter requires any comment—at least from me.

But I have a vague sort of idea Mrs. Rosenberg will receive whispered advice from the White House to pipe down for a while on her re-orientation proposal.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 4—After "Going My Way," is anybody surprised that Bing Crosby is the top male star of the year, according to Boxoffice Magazine's annual poll? "Der Bingle" is der best and playing in one of his pictures is a break for any actress.

Bonita Granville

Right now it looks as if Leo McCarey and Charles Koerner have made up their minds the lucky lady for Bing's "Bells of St. Mary's," at RKO, will be Ann Richards.

At present the Australian charmer is making "Love Letters" on the Paramount lot and it was after looking at some rushes of her best scenes that the Messrs. Koerner and McCarey made their decision.

THE FLASH from New York is that 20th Century-Fox has bought the torrid "Forever Amber" in spite of the Hays office ruling that Kathleen Winsor's best seller is too hot to handle. They won't get an argument out of me on that point. There's a real scorcher, centered around a heroine who lived in London a couple of eras ago but who could give the modern sirens cards and spades.

* * *

BONITA GRANVILLE has been holding out for a singing role and she gets it in "It's Never Too Late," opposite Noah Beery, Jr., at Universal. Bonita has had the singing bug ever since she went on tour as a canary last year with Abe Lyman's band.

* * *

WE'RE FILLED WITH musical notes today. Maybe it is the influence of the opera season that is causing the boys and girls to burst into song. Dana Andrews, who has a fine voice which he has never used on the screen, breaks out in melody for the first time in "State Fair." The funny angle about Dana is he was originally signed for movies because of his voice, and then somebody forgot to turn him in. It is also settled that Alice Faye won't do "State Fair." The two top femme roles go to Vivian Blain and Jeanne Crain.

SIDE-LINES: Jack Benny has announced he is unveiling his new singing discovery, Larry Stevens, on Sunday. Things are certainly breaking right for this boy. Before he went into the Army (he now has his honorable discharge) he was a gas station attendant in Hollywood and very much in love with a pretty little Universal stock player named Barbara Williams. Now he's hit the the jackpot they'll be married any day . . . Remember Harry Langdon? He's back in the comedy lead in "Moonlight and Roses" at Republic, playing one of those typical mousey roles that made him famous.

HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS: Helmut Dantine's ex, Gwen Anderson, is en route from New York to Palm Springs to shake off a siege of pneumonia. He's rented her a house there, so maybe it's another reconciliation; when Ralph Bellamy opens his Broadway play, "The Democrat," the leading lady will be Frances Dee; cute little June Preisser (why doesn't some producer get wise that she's a miniature Betty Hutton?) and her husband, Dick Terry, doing Charlie Foy's, where Frisco and Sheila Rogers headline the swell show; Lorraine Miller says we've got her wrong. She's having dates with Herb Nacio Brown, Jr., but no engagement; Ann Sothern's baby is due within 10 days. Nice for Annie that Lt. Bob Sterling is stationed at Van Nuys.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—So you're in town for the week, are you? And then you hie back home for a session with the voting machine?

Well, I'd love to interview you on the subject of how you got that hotel room, because they're telling some tall tales around the city on that subject. I know a young man who got a room at a Park ave. hotel by dating the mail clerk on three successive evenings, and wining and dining her until she couldn't say no—to his request for a single room with a bath!

As long as you were able to get into one of our inns, I'm sure you won't have any trouble crashing into a few rehearsals in the Broadway area.

Bea Lillie finally got here to do the Billy Rose show (I say finally because there were more rumors about her arrival than there were about D-Day), and she looks sleek and bright as ever, although thinner and even more finely drawn. She hasn't had exactly a beer-and-skittles existence during the past four years of blitz and hard work and great personal loss, but she's still a creature of quick wit and mistress of the light touch.

At rehearsals, the first thing she said to Bert Lahr, her co-star, was "Give me my cue, handsome!"

THEN YOU might slip into David Wolper's "Glad to See You" rehearsals. June Knight and Janie Withers and Eddie Davis are romping around over there, and I can asure you that Sammy Cahn and Julie Styne, the music boys, are a show in themselves. If you get to talk to them, steer the conversation to horses or football or elections—anything they can put a bet on!

For your final rehearsal trek, try "A Bell for Adano." You'll get a chance to see Margo, who looks lovely in the bright blond hair she's assumed for the part of Tina, and red-thatched Everett Sloane as the sergeant.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 4—Hedy Lamarr would like to play the lead in "Duel in the Sun" at RKO opposite John Wayne . . . Ralph Bellamy will do another series of recordings for Victor . . . George Raft and the pretty Larraine Beecher are a combination . . . Andre de Toth is working on an Americanized version of his "Bride of Topkin," the picture which brought him to the attention of Hollywood . . . Sir Cedric Hardwicke will leave for London soon to appear in Edward Pearcy's play, "The House on the Bridge" . . . They were doing an additional sequence for "Anchors Aweigh," with Gene Kelly, and when the assistant director checked out the extras attired as sailors he found he had more than the payroll called for. A group of bona fide sailors mingled with the mob and used the opportunity to crash the studio . . . Warner Janssen, who is scoring "Guest in the House," tells of a couple of producers who were discussing a follow-up picture to Zanuck's "Wilson." One producer said: "I'd like to do a picture about William Jennings Bryan. He was a big man in American history." "But he was never President," the second producer remarked. "Ah, that's the idea," answered the first producer. "I'll give the picture a surprise ending and make him President." But don't get me wrong. I love Hollywood.

ANNE BAXTER will be Fred MacMurray's leading lady in the Rickenbacker picture which is now titled, "Hat in the Ring," after Rickenbacker's plane insignia . . . Angelea Lansburgy and Hurd Hatfield are vooming . . . At the recent Writers Mobilization premiere of "Tomorrow the World," the question of what to do with Germany was discussed by experts . . . Albert Duplain, the man who sells most of the broadstuffs used by the hotels and cabarets, has an eerie story to tell of a "wrong burial" . . . The victim was a South Ender, supposedly, and Mr. Duplain furnished the funds for burial after a "positive" identity by a relative of the man.

AS WAS THE CASE in a story that made the news columns recently, the "corpse" turned up after burial . . . Fought Japs Weeks With Tree as Prize

Take it from PFC John Coughlin of Stoneham, the highest priced tree in the world stands on a hill overlooking an airfield in Bougainville.

Coughlin, home on furlough after serving as a doughboy rifleman with the Americal Infantry Division, told today about the 21-day battle for the tree and the hill, and what it cost the Yanks to wrest it from the Japanese.

For his heroism during that three-week battle, Coughlin won the Bronze Star Medal. He also wears the Combat Infantryman badge, the Purple Heart with Oak Leaf Cluster, and the Distinguished Unit Badge, a memento of the great job his outfit did on Guadalcanal.

J. Coughlin

"We lost the tree and part of the hill the first day of the battle last March 8," PFC Coughlin said. "The tree was what made that hill so important. It was a big banyan that was perfect for an observation post. But there wasn't a whole lot left after our artillery worked on it for three weeks.

"Parts of the hill swapped back and forth all through the fighting, but we never did get the tree back until the 26th, when we took the whole hill over again. A couple of days later we had beaten the Japs entirely in that sector."

Coughlin was wounded on the fourth day of the Jap attack, but after first aid he continued in action.

"I got a piece of me kind of shell right in the mouth and chin and cut me up a little," he said. "Lead was flying as thick that day as I ever saw it."

Son of Mr. and Mrs. John Coughlin, Sr., of Butler ave., Stoneham, PFC Coughlin was inducted March 20, 1941, and received his basic training at Camp Edwards. His wife, Ida, lives in Center st., Danvers.

Century Setback Feared by Wills

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 4 (AP) — Four more years given "the gang of politicians now in federal office" would turn the clock of progress back 100 years, Gov. Wills of Vermont told a Republican rally here.

"It's time to be scared," Gov. Wills asserted. "It's time to take stock as to where the country is going—where it is headed.

"For 12 long years false doctrines have been preached to the people, false values have been created, and a mockery has been made of those truths in which a free people must believe, and to which they must adhere if they are to remain masters of their fate."

Gov. Wills criticized the National Administration's domestic policies, describing them as "the squabbles and bickering, the cross-purpose attempts to do one job a dozen different ways at one time."

Runyon Film Opens Monday

Dick Haymes, this department's Sinatra, and June Haver, the cute blonde of "Home In Indiana," are co-starred with The Beard, otherwise Monty Woolley, in the Keith Memorial's pre-election day special, "Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

Kind Features Syndicate writer Damon Runyon's first production opens here on Monday, preceded by a terrific word-of-mouth build-up.

"Irish Eyes Are Smiling" is a song-filled musical in Technicolor stemming from the first World War and having for its locale Broadway at its gayest, razzle-dazzle period. It is the story of Ernest R. Ball, the singing composer who rose from obscurity to become the toast of Broadway. Haymes, of course, has this role. Miss Haver plays opposite him.

Woolley has the role of Edgar Brawley, fabulous man-about-town. Maxie Rosenbloom impersonates the then middleweight champion, Stanley Ketchell. Anthony Quinn and Beverly Whitney are also importantly cast.

By a happy coincidence, Jeanne Crain, who was teamed with June Haver in "Home In Indiana," is to be seen in the co-feature, "In the Meantime, Darling," which includes in its cast Frank Latimer, Eugene Pallette and Mary Nash

TWO YOUNG ADVENTURERS—Diana Lynn and Gail Russell co-star in Paramount's delightful comedy, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," adapted from the best-seller by Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough. The youthful stars portray the authors of the autobiography in the picture which opens at Metropolitan Theater next Thursday.

'Wilson' at Majestic Next

"Wilson," Darryl Zanuck's "cavalcade of America" which the film industry had been talking about making for years, moves into the Majestic Theater on Wednesday.

Alexander Knox, Broadway actor who was a comparative newcomer to Hollywood, gives a performance in the title role that has been repeatedly mentioned in the same breath with the Academy Award

Somerville JVA Unit Plans Busy Winter

Comdr. John M. Gkolias of the Colin Kelly Corps No. 213, Somerville, has already planned a winter program for his group that every Junior Victory Army Corps can follow.

It's a simple one. He and his members are going to various houses in their neighborhood and ask the householders for whatever odd jobs they can do—shovelling snow, cleaning up yards and sidewalks, washing windows, etc., and the money they collect is going into war stamps and to the Greek War Relief Association to which most of these Somerville JVA's belong.

"I'm trying my best to see that everything goes just swell," he says. "At our meeting Oct. 27, we voted in two new members, Andrew and George Chicklakis of Linhan ct., Somerville.

"We collected over 200 pounds of paper just recently and took it to the nearby collection depot, and we're keeping right on collecting it. We are writing to servicemen a lot, and of course we're always buying war stamps and bonds."

John and his corps have only one wish—they wish there were more hours in the day! John works and goes to evening school too, and it's hard to find enough time to do all he wants to. But he's doing a good job under the circumstances.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well wrapped in your letter.

Read the next JVA story in Sunday's Advertiser.

Doubt Gambler Tried To 'Fix' Dutch Leonard

By JACK CONWAY

I AM INCLINED to accept the opinion of President Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators when he says that the mysterious person who called Pitcher Dutch Leonard on the telephone in his hotel room in Detroit and offered him a chance to make several thousands of dollars by throwing a ball game to the Tigers was probably "some nut."

Griffith's years of experience in baseball caused him to believe that a professional gambler intent on corrupting Leonard would have used other methods than a telephone call.

Dutch Leonard

Leonard was naturally worried by the telephone call and he did the proper thing when he called the matter to the attention of Coach Clyde Milan. Leonard then proved how he felt about the offer when he shut the Tigers in most convincing style.

There are numerous rumors in regard to the honesty of the baseball between the Senators and the Tigers. The "smart" gambling gentry was convinced that the Tigers would win enough games to assure them the title. The Cardinals in the world series. They argued that a series between the Tigers and the Cardinals would be a much better drawing attraction than one between the Cardinals and Browns.

Fortunately for baseball the Senators knocked the Tigers out of the pennant race. This decisive action ended all talk about "fixed" ball games.

Griffith calls attention to the fact there has not been a scandal in baseball since the "Black Sox," sold the 1919 world's series with the Reds to a group of selfish, unscrupulous gamblers. Baseball has cleaned house and it intends to keep things right.

Baseball will continue to be alert on the question of gamblers if it realizes that the sure thing bettors would "fix" ball games if they were able to do so. Ball players also recognize this and they avoid associations which might be questionable.

Baseball is the most popular sport in the United States and those persons who direct the various clubs owe a duty to the public to see that all games are contested on their merits. The public is the crooked ball players for life has been one of the most effective means of keeping the sport out of reach of gamblers.

Park League Title

BILLY MULLEN expects a crowd of 20,000 for the Park League championship game between the Geraghty Club of Roxbury and the Codman A. A. of Dorchester at Fenway Park tomorrow afternoon. More than 150,000 persons have witnessed the Park Department games played so far this fall.

Billy Mullen has done an excellent job of organizing the various Park Department sports programs. Thousands of men now in the armed forces were benefitted physically by being able to compete in sports on the city's playgrounds.

Yale Leading Green, 6-0

other colleges during the week. Many of these are highly rated grid performers, but figured to be of very limited value to the Indians in the game because they have yet to absorb the Brown system.

One oddity found Nick Fusilli, who played tackle for Dartmouth, last week, playing the same position for Yale in this tilt.

FIRST PERIOD

Dartmouth won toss and elected to kick and, receiving on the 15, carried back to the 32. Yale could gain but seven in three rushes. Paul Walker punted to Holt who was downed in his tracks on the Dartmouth 32. Dartmouth was penalized 15 yards for holding.

Holt kicked to Barksdale, who moved back 12 to the Yale 31. Penn gained six, and on a lateral, Barksdale was thrown for a first down. A short pass, Loh to Walker was good for six yards but Yale was penalized five yards on the play for illegal shift. Yale lost five more when Loh slipped as he tried to get off a pass and Walker got off a punt which stopped on the one-inch line.

Gingrich kicked out to the Dartmouth 42 and Loh raced back to the 24 before being downed. A short pass, Loh to Walker was good for a first down on the 12. Penn plunged forward five. Barksdale, on a cut back, raced to the three. Penn was smeared back on the six as the period ended.

Score: Yale 0, Dartmouth 0.

SECOND PERIOD

It was fourth and four for the Ells as the period opened. Bob Roberts, rushing in to try for a pleasant goal, had his kick blocked and Dartmouth took over on the 12.

Holt punted to the Yale 45 with Loh lugging the ball back 11 yards. A long Yale pass failed and Walker punted and Holt made a fair catch on the nine. Gingrich punted to Barksdale on the Dartmouth 25.

Barksdale picked up nine off tackle and Penn picked up the extra yard for first down on the 35. Campbell nailed Barksdale for a 3-yard loss. A screen pass, Loh to Paul Walker was good for a touchdown. Roberts conversion try failed.

Score—Yale 6, Dartmouth 0.

Holt took the Yale kickoff back 30 yards from his five. Walker recovered a pass to Holt to give Yale possession on the Dartmouth 20. Three rushes cost Yale three yards. A long pass into the end zone failed and the Indians took over on the 23.

Bratz broke through for 12 and a first down on the 34. Bratz gained eight. Holt picked up 15 to move to the Yale 40. A long pass failed. Another long pass failed as the half ended.

Score: Yale 6, Dartmouth 0.

THIRD PERIOD

Gingrich carried Roberts' kickoff back 15 yards to his 30. Gingrich punt went out on Yale 23. Three rushes gave the Elis first down on the 35. Walker punted to the Dartmouth 30.

Off-tackle slants by Bratz and Clayton gave the Indians first down on their 44. An exchange of punts left the Green with the ball on the Yale 47.

Bratz found a hole in center and moved to the Yale 38. Dartmouth fumbled on the next two plays but picked up a yard. A long pass failed.

Dartmouth rushed four and had nine to go but missed first down by inches on the Yale 27 as the Elis took over as the period ended.

Score—Yale 6, Dartmouth 0.

and from that point Zoeller passed mostly to Schmidt in the end zone for the score. Logan's kick for the point was wide.

Score: Melville 12, B. C. 0.

Melville's third score came even quicker than the second. B. C. received, was held, punted outside on the Melville 41. On the first play from scrimmage Zoeller broke off B. C. tackle, eluded several tacklers, raced all the way to B. C.'s seven before Reardon dropped him. But on the next play Zoeller went over standing up. This time Logan converted.

Score: Melville 19, B. C. 0.

B. C. did better as the period progressed. Once Englert completed a pass to Eden for a first down. Again Michelowicz recovered a Melville fumble. Reardon swept end for a first down and with the help of penalties drove to the Melville 15. But Boston College recovered his own blocked kick on Brown's four-yard line. The injured Charlie Tiedemann then rushed in and booted outside on Brown's 30. Before the session ended the Cadets rushed to Brown's 34.

Score—Coast Guard 0, Brown 0.

SECOND PERIOD

A Navy V-12 transfer, Tommy Kavanzanjian, from Dartmouth, recovered Russell's fumble on Brown's four-yard line. Brown lost 5 yards on its 35 before kicking outside on Coast Guard's 35.

Neither team could gain with its running attack and just before the half ended in a scoreless deadlock, Brown took to the air and moved from midfield to the cadets' 30 by air.

Score: Coast Guard 0, Brown 0.

THIRD PERIOD

Waltham kicked off to Everett. Pensavalle returned it to the Everett 25. A series of line plays moved the ball to the Everett 40. A clipping penalty set Everett back to its 25. Pensavalle punted to the Waltham 40. A Waltham fumble was recovered by a host of Everett lines men on the 50. Pensavalle plunged through tackle on three plays to within inches of a first down. Clipping penalty moved the ball back. Pensavalle then punted out of bounds on the Waltham nine-yard line. On the fourth down, a Waltham punt was block on their own three-yard line by Everett's Liotta, and Lemole, Everett's right tackle, recovered for a touchdown.

Score—Everett 6, Waltham 0.

FOURTH PERIOD

Both teams battled back and forth until midway during the period when Dono, on a deceptive quarter plays, threw a pass from the Waltham 15 to the 50-yard line where Palumbo took it and weaved in and out of the entire Everett team for 50 yards and a touchdown. Waltham kicked to Everett. Pensavalli, Laspina and Comerford ripped through the Waltham line on plays to the 30. Laspina took the ball on his 35 and raced for a touchdown.

Everett kicked to Waltham. Zeno took on his five and returned it to his 30. He then uncorked a series of long passes to Palumbo and O'Brien. These plays moved the ball 45 yards to the Everett three. Zeno leaped over for the touchdown.

Waltham kicked to Everett. Laspina broke loose and almost got into the clear as the game ended.

Final Everett 12 Waltham 12.

Wilson Picks 4

Dave Wilson, turf expert for the Green Race Special edition of the Evening American, came up with four more winners at Rockingham Park yesterday.

Wilson's winners were: Rita Royal, $6.40, in the 1st; Double Feature, $3.60, in 2nd; Busy Nine, $11.20, in 6th, and Ben Gray, $3.80, in 8th.

Brown, Gobs Tie at Quarter

PROVIDENCE (AP)—Brown, minus the services of Charley Hiedemann, its outstanding scoring threat, engaged the Coast Guard Academy's victory-starved Cadets.

FIRST PERIOD

The Coast Guard Cadets and Brown battled to a scoreless opening period trying to rush out of their own zones, with the result that a kicking duel ensued. Yanks to Tear Into N. Y. Giants

"Beat New York, beat New York" was the chant of the Boston Yanks this morning as they boarded the 8:30 train at South Station bound for the big atom and a Sunday game with New York Giants.

Spirit was high among the players. They know they defeated a good team in Brooklyn last week, and they're determined to square account with the Giants who opened the season with a 22-13 victory over the Boston team.

They believe they can do it, because New York has been desperate for a passer of late. They have been experimenting with Joe Sulaitis this week. The Yanks, on the other hand, have been getting some 4-1 passing from Guldmundson and Turbert. boys who didn't face the Tigers. Cafego, too, is in better health.

The squad was to check in at Hotel Pennsylvania this afternoon, work out at the Polo Grounds later.

Starting lineup was to be: Ranspot and Crowley, ends; McGee and Franco, tackles; Lio and Walker, guards; Magee, center; Davis, qb, Williams, Crain and Martin, backs.

Thus, France was to be given a chance to re-win his starting tackle post, lost last week to Chris Riggs. Ranspot again will captain the team.

The Yanks put in a whiz-bang practice session at Fenway Park on Friday, the while workmen were setting the stage for President Roosevelt's appearance there tonight. The cry "Beat New York" kept bouncing off the Fenway bleachers, and the boys were still yelping it this morning.

Fesler's successor has not been named.

Everett Ties Waltham, 12-12

EVERETT STADIUM, Nov. 4—The constantly improving Everett grid team encountered Waltham, champion of 1943, here today. The weather was ideal for the battle between these two who last year met in the most decisive game of the season with Waltham winning by one point and with that point taking the state championship.

FIRST PERIOD

Everett kicked off to Waltham. Bill O'Brien gathered the pigskin on his 15 and returned it to his own 30. A pass play and line play failed to gain. A pass moved the ball to the Waltham 20. An offside penalty against Everett pushed the ball back to the Waltham 25. Waltham's line stopped the Everett offensive cold. Play seesawed back and forth, with no offensive power showing on either side.

Score: Everett 0, Waltham 0.

SECOND PERIOD

Free Park Game May Draw 25,000

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Two former South Boston High School backs, both stars in interscholastic competition but now in the U. S. Navy, will probably be in the starting line-up for the Geraghty Club of Roxbury tomorrow afternoon against the Codman A. A. of Dorchester in the battle for the Boston Park League football championship at Fenway Park.

Close to 25,000 fans were expected to storm into the home of the Red Sox in this biggest of all football bargains—the championship of the sandlots for FREE.

Coaches Charlie Peck and Hank Geraghty were hoping that Chet Murowski and George Dubovy will be granted week-end passes so that they will be able to represent the Roxbury eleven in its debut at Fenway. Murowski and Dubovy have been in the line-up all season as the Geraghtys romped through the Kelly Club of Dorchester (18-0), the Mattapan Merchants (51-0), the Dorgan Club of South Boston (12-0) and the Charlestown T. T. (12-0) to jump into a first place tie in the standings.

All week, the twin coaching staff of Peck and Geraghty has been working George Killeen, Danny Dilorati, Tom Connolly and Johnnie Rich as a backfield unit—just in case. This quartet will be doing the ball carrying if the South Boston halfbacks fail to appear.

Horses Arriving At Gulfstream Track

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 4 (AP)—Gulfstream Park, the third racing oval in the Miami area, took on life today for the first time in six years.

Arrival of two stables yesterday heralded the return of racing to the course, with a meeting to open Dec. 1.

Joe Louis Stops Denson in Two

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 4 (INS)—Joe Louis, sergeant in the U. S. Army, still is heavyweight champion of the world.

He proved it again in Detroit where he knocked out Johnny Denson, 210 pounds, of Indianapolis, in the second round in an exhibition.

Joe made his first return to a civilian ring since his knockout of Abe Simon at Madison Squore Garden in September, 1942, before a packed house.

With 80 bouts under his belt from an Army tour, the Brown Bomber was the tiger of old. He smeared his opponent with a flurry of rights and lefts to the chin and applied the ice in one minute and a half of the second chapter.

A crowd of 11,000 paid $31,874.56 to watch the card.

Bruins Face Power In Toronto Tonight

By BILL GRIMES

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 4—After losing to the flying Frenchmen and the Red Wings in their first and second game of the 1944-45 N. H. L. campaign, the Bruins will take on the undefeated and untied Toronto Maple Leafs here tonight.

On paper, the Rossmen are no match for the Maple Leafs, but tonight's tilt will be decided on the ice at the Maple Leaf Gardens, not on paper.

The Bruins opened the season a week ago tonight in Montreal and dropped a 3 to 2 verdict to Les Canadiens. They could have won that game but for the fact that "Dit" Clapper and Jack Shewchuck were sitting out a minor penalty when the Frenchmen scored two of their three tallies. Last Sunday, the Rossmen were snowed under by the Red Wings of Detroit.

The Maple Leafs are off to a grand start. They didn't look impressive against Rangers a week ago but last Sunday over in Chicago they hung an 11 to 5 defeat on the Blackhawks. And, on Thursday, they did a nice job on Les Canadiens in Montreal, by winning 4 to 1.

The Toronto-Canadiens game was a costly victory for Hap Day. Elwyn Morris, the chunky Toronto defense man, will be out of action for at least six weeks with a shoulder separation and most of the Leafs are carrying mementos of that contest.

BARE CHANCE FOR BRUINS

In the event that the Maple Leafs figure that they got over the "hump" when they knocked off Les Canadiens, the Bruins might slip over a knockout punch tonight.

For the past three days, the Rossmen have been working out here. They practised at the Maple Leaf Gardens late last Wednesday afternoon and on Thursday and yesterday they worked out at the Ravina Garden, over in West Toronto.

The Bruins will not "ice" their most formidable club tonight or tomorrow over in Chicago. But, Manager Art Ross will have a stronger aggregation that he sent against Les Canadiens or the Red Wings. He has shaken his lines and also his outer defense combinations this week.

When the Bruins opened the season a week ago, Ken Smith was assigned to play left wing on the Bill Cowley line and Herbie Cain, a left hand shot was on the starboard flank. After the 7 to 1 defeat in Detroit, Uncle Arthur shook up his lines.

Before he left the motor city, Mgr. Ross traded Pete Leswick, a veteran of many minor league campaigns for Bill Jennings, who had spent most of the time he was in the Red Wings organization commuting between Detroit and Indianapolis. Under Jack Adams, with whom he seldom saw eye to eye, Jennings was a defense man. But, when he reported here last Thursday, Jennings was assigned to play right wing on the Cowley line.

Not since the days when Eddie Wiseman patrolled that lane have the Bruins had a right hand shot on Bill Cowley's starboard side. Jennings is a good scorer. Now, he has his chance and there's no one more aware of that fact than Bill Jennings.

WELCOME, TYPHOON LINE

Behind the Cowley line are the typhoons, Frankie Mario at center, Bill Cupolo at right wing and little Ken Smith on the left flank. With the exception of Mario, the typhoons have had any professional experience but both Cupolo and Smith are good prospects, particularly Smith who has scored in each of the two N. H. L. games he has played.

The third line tonight and tomorrow will be Art Jackson at center flanked by Norm Calladine and Paul Gladu. Young Jackson and Calladine are known to Boston hockey followers but Gladu is up from the Quebec Aces and a far better than average prospect, war or no war.

BALTIMORE STADIUM, Nov. 4—Navy rose to its football heights here today to score a stunning victory over the hitherto undefeated Notre Dame eleven before a roaring throng of more than 60,000 persons.

Navy won, 32-13.

FIRST PERIOD

Notre Dame received, couldn't gain, punted, and recovered Barron's fumble of the kick on the Navy's 19. A pass to Bob Kelly carried to the six, and he gained four more through the line. Then Elmer Angsman went crashing across the goal line, but the play was recalled and the Irish were penalized five yards.

The Irish eventually got to the one-yard line, where they lost the ball on downs. Hansen's punt was half blocked and Angsman recovered on Navy's 25. Notre Dame was penalized 15 yards, and when Navy shortly thereafter again took possession, Hansen got away a 75-yard punt which Nemeth just touched. The ball went over the goal and Nemeth had to run it out and was downed on his three.

Barron returned Kelly's punt nine to the Irish 36, then dashed 28 yards. Scott went the rest of the way, Finos, missed the conversion, and the score was Navy 6, Notre Dame 0.

Notre Dame received, failed to gain, and Kelly's punt was half-blocked and Navy took over on the Irish 44. A pass, Jenkins to Hansen, put the ball on the five, and from there Scott again crashed over and Finos again missed the conversion. The period ended shortly thereafter.

Score—Navy 12, Notre Dame 0.

SECOND PERIOD

A fumble by Kelly following a five-yard loss on a line play put the Irish back on their own 22, from where Kelly punted to Hamberg, who returned 27 yards to the Notre Dame 47. After a few short gains Ellsworth, on a re-

PT Gridmen Stop Eagles

ALUMNI FIELD, Newton, Nov. 4—The 17-year-o of Boston College looked pretty big as they defeated C. N. Y., New York U. and Syracuse U. in their last three sta but they looked like pygmies today when they faced the overseas veterans from PT Boat Base in Melville, R. I.

FIRST PERIOD

Melville won the toss and elected to kick off. Berger's boot was received by Elliott on the goal line and he carried to the 13. On the first play from scrimmage a B. C. fumble was recovered by Vohs, and Melville had a first down on B. C. 16.

In four plays Melville scored, Zoeller carrying to the seven, then to the one and Secrest going over for the touchdown. Log kick for the point was blocked Bowdring.

YALE BOWL, New Haven, Nov. 4—Yale and D mouth, grid rivals since 1884, met for the 28th time befo crowd estimated at 20,000 in this spacious concrete sa today.

It's been a blue-tinged series, and no foolin', this particular competition, with the Yales owning 17 victories as against six defeats and four ties. Moreover, the current Elis, undefeated to date this fall, were odds-on favorites to triumph in this 60th anniversary battle.

The Dartmouth's only victory in four starts thus far was the 14-13 triumph over Brown a week ago. And 16 of the 32 Indians who dressed for that game were among the missing here at New Haven. They had been transferred by the Navy to other seats of learning during the week.

Thus Coach Earl Brown had but 16 experienced hands to field against the Bulldogs. He also had a dozen players inherited from
